

The Current State of Security Automation and Integration

Over 500 security professionals respond with their automation and integration experiences and plans.

Top benefits from automation reported

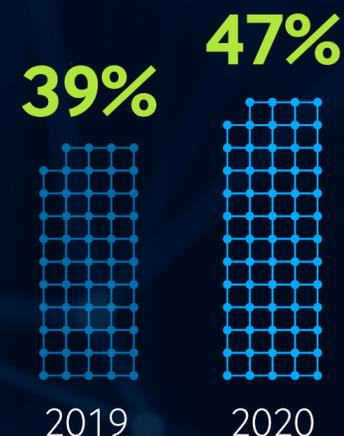

Improved visibility and monitoring infrastructure

Reduced time for detection, response or remediation

Automation adoption continues to rise

Respondents utilizing a medium to high level of automation in their organization grew year over year

Only 5% of respondents expect automation efforts to result in a reduction of staffing

Instead 49%

anticipate better staff utilization after implementing automation

Organizations that have fully integrated their IR team with their SOC are 38% more likely to adopt medium- or high-level automation

Automation budgets are growing

Respondents plan to increase their security automation budgets by 16% next year