Security Automation: A Strategic Imperative for Federal Agencies
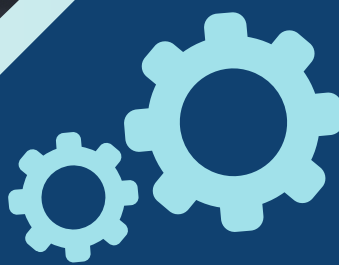

Key Insights and Findings

1 in 3 government agencies are expecting perpetual understaffing issues

47% of participants cited lack of features like reporting and case management using no-code automation

99% of participants cited that low-code automation has offered their agency the most benefits

99%

67% of federal agencies are confident that they will meet all Zero Trust requirements by the end of the 2024 fiscal year

67%

SWIMLANE